ADAMS COUNTY INCLUDED IN WATER STUDY

The U.S. Corps of Engineers in its overall plan for development of the Potomac River Basin to provide sufficient water for its expected population 50 years from now has included Adams County in its estimates, Carl J. Johnson, conservation consultant for the Interstate Commission of the Potomac River Basin, told the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association Long Range Planning Committee for Conservation of Water and Soil, at its meeting Monday afternoon in the West St. Bank.

At the same time Johnson said the plan scheduled for completion next year will include a number of plans for future development.

"The basic purpose of all plans is to provide enough water for Washington, D. C. Each will do that. Some of the plans will also provide water for other areas. You can rely on Washington getting the supply it needs. Whether the plan will also take into consideration all other communities in the Potomac River Basin will depend to a large extent on how interested the local communities are. Mrs. John Keller presided at the business session. Devotions were led by Mrs. Nelson Sulloft and the program was arranged by Mrs. Carey Moore, chairman of the education committee.

Governor Will Sign Bill To Ban Capital Punishment

By RICHARD L. GRAVES HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence said today he would sign into law any bill passed by the legislature abolishing capital punishment.

"The ministry is not a profession or an office or an order, it is servicehood," declared the Rev. Dr. Lawrence Folkemer, professor of theology at the Lutheran Seminary, in an address in the SCA building at Gettysburg College Monday evening. He delivered the annual Bell Lecture before an audience of more than 60 persons.

The Bell Lecture was set up by Peter G. Bell, who attended Gettysburg College in 1856, for the purpose of "keeping before the students of the college the demand for men of the Christian ministry and the conditions of the age that qualify that demand."

"A Minister in an Age Like This" was the topic of Dr. Folkemer's address. He said that a minister should be compelled to be a minister because "the message of Christ should grip you and will not let you go; he must be essentially a preacher to individuals, and he must be made to throw a part of his life into the individual's lives."

The Rev. Dr. Folkemer said that a minister in this age cannot be a chaplain of status quo; one who does not resist change; one who must not be "an incurable cleric who stands aloof and separated from society or a temporizer who has insufficient courage and decisions to stand against the social pressure if necessary."

Dr. Folkemer explained, "Today the tendency of thought is that a group is more important than an individual. Our age is one of mounting insecurity, where modern science has a primary respect and its method is absolute, but leads to insecurity. This means that scientists can't agree on many things and use the probability method."

"A third characteristic of our age is one of externalism, where the emphasis is on things as having rather than being. The standard of living is the standard of luxury."

"A fourth characteristic is conformity. In our world, we find a sameness which reflects in dullness and sameness in fashions, styles, etc."

"The fifth and probably most important is spiritual insecurity and moral immaturity. Science has outrun both resources. We are about to enter outer space but we have no laws to govern the socialized life of other planets. We're not prepared for them. This is reflected in our disorganized families and racial problems."

Asks $56,452 For State Armory Here

Governor Lawrence has asked the state legislature for $56,452 for the local National Guard Armory, but it was not clear here today, for what purpose the sum is to be allocated.

John Hewitt and LeRoy H. Winebrenner of the Army Advisory Board said they did not know the purpose of the allocation. Both said a number of projects have been submitted over the last several years including paving of the parking lot and construction of a building for housing the local battery's howitzers, but both said they have not been notified of any decision of the state government to accept any of the proposals.

Capt. Donald Doersom, commanding officer of the local battery, could not be contacted up to press time.

CANADIENS EYE 6TH TITLE

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens start out on the Stanley Cup trail again tonight, hoping it leads to their sixth straight championship, and coach Toe Blake is happy that his club is in fighting trim.

The Canadiens meet the Chicago Black Hawks in the opening game of the best-of-seven semifinal. The teams meet again here Thursday.

"In other years there has always been a let-down after we had clinched the National Hockey League title well in advance of the regular season finish," said Blake.

"But this time we had to go right to the wire fighting. I think we're better off for it."

Coach Rudy Pilous of the Hawks no less optimistic than Blake, said his club has a good chance to upset the Canadiens.

He feels the team, which lost four straight to the Canadiens in last year's semi-final, is much commencement exercises will be held June 3 and June 6 will be the last day for students. Report cards will be mailed June 11.

Another recommendation of the teacher-curriculum committee was approved adopting a policy of giving credit salary-wise to persons employed by the Gettysburg Joint School System for military service prior to their employment here. The amount of the credit will be at the rate of $100 per year for one to three years of continuous, full time active duty. The policy will become effective at the beginning of the fall term and would not be retroactive.

ADD HS COURSE

Another recommendation of the same committee was adopted by the board which would add a course to the high school curriculum at the Ninth Grade level. It will be a course in human relations and would be available only to nonacademic students who have time in their schedule to take the course.

The course would be aimed, Supt. H. Edgar Riegle said, at helping pupils to learn to get along with people and would receive full credit. It will be introduced next fall.

The board also renewed its contract with the Peterson Handwriting System for elementary instruction at $108 per month on recommendation of the teacher and curriculum committee.

HEAR MRS. SLOAT

Continuing a practice of having a faculty member explain to the board some phase of the instructional program at each board meeting, Mrs. Charles A. Sloat was introduced Monday evening by Supt. Riegle. She displayed teaching materials and described methods in helping First Graders attain their "achievement expectations" in the first year of school.

She described the initial period of orientation aimed at giving the beginners a sense of security and said: "We are not aiming at uniformity or regimentation but we expect order, respect and attention." She said reading is one of the most important First Grade subjects and the goal is to develop a positive attitude toward reading and learning in general.

TO REGISTER APRIL 4

She said pupils are taught to "listen purposefully" and outlined the teachers' aims in science, arithmetic, art and music and the beginnings of social studies in the first year. She explained how teachers give attention to individual needs of pupils as they seek to develop "a basis ad background for wanting to learn to read and write."

Announcement was made by Supt. Riegle of the new date for the first registration of children who will start school next September. The new date is Tuesday, April 4. Another date had been listed previously.

The meeting adjourned at 9:50 p.m.

PUSH PROBE OF CAGE SCANDAL

NEW YORK (AP) —The interrogation by the office of the district attorney into the latest college basketball scandal continued today.

A spokesman disclosed Monday that "more players" had been questioned at the district attorney's headquarters but he refused to identify the individuals or what schools were involved.

Tension was high in the metropolitan area as school officials awaited answers to the claims that 15 to 20 colleges may be implicated on a national scale.

Twenty-five detectives are investigating the case.

Last Friday two men, both convicted gamblers, were arrested and charged with bribing three players to hold down their team's scoring.

The board gave permission for use of school facilities next November 3 and 4 when the Gettysburg unit of the PSEA will play host to the annual meeting of the regional conference of the Southwestern District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. The affair will bring about 200 persons to Gettysburg.

Supt. Riegle called attention to plans for the annual dinner meeting for directors of the South Penn Study Council which will be held April 25 at Chambersburg. Reservations will be made at the April meeting of the joint board.

Copies of the new county school directory were distributed to board members Monday evening.

The board gave permission for use of school facilities to the Adams Electric Cooperative for its annual meeting March 25 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. with the cafeteria and auditorium to be in use and to St. James Lutheran Church for use of the Eisenhower School for a workers' conference April 24.

APPROVE BILLS

The directors approved for payment monthly bills totaling $22,400. The monthly report of the joint school district treasurer, the First National Bank, showed receipts of $67,000 in tuition and $2,270 in NDEA funds with expenditures totaling $79,056 and leaving a balance of $20,397. Business Manager Kenneth G. Reinhardt Jr. warned member board to make payments promptly to the joint treasury or bill cannot be met.

The monthly cafeteria reports covering 16 days of operation in February follow: High school, an average of 382 student and 25 adult meals daily with total income of $7,405 and expenses of $6,653 and a profit of $751; Eisenhower School, an average of 639 student and 32 adult dinners with receipts of $3,852 and expenses of $3,822 leaving a profit of $29.67, and Keefeauver cafeteria, an average of 572 student and 34 adult meals with receipts of $3,424 and expenses of $3,337 leaving a profit of $86.64.

The activities fund report showed a balance of $22,301 after expenditures of $1,269.

HIGH COST OF

insurance—and when that happens you will find auto insurance going sky high.

"The only way to keep your insurance down to reasonable levels is to do what should be done without such a goad—insist on safer highways. Be a better driver yourself. Set a climate by which the bad driver is driven off the road."

PSP THE BEST

"I've lived in four states and Pennsylvania has the best state police of them all—but it needs twice as many men in the state police as it has now."

"Looking into the future, with its expected growth of population, you can see that the picture on the highways is going to get better. It is going to get better because first it is going to get worse until it becomes unendurable. Then it will improve."

"Looking into the future you can see a return of public transportation. Cities have almost reached the point now where their only hope is to ban all private driving from the streets. The day is coming when people will turn in their cars because they are a nuisance."

REASONABLE VERDICTS

"But until that day comes, while private cars are still in great use, remember it is your money that is paying such items as $18,000,000 damage in one year. You can save yourself money by insisting on safer driving by everyone; by helping wipe out the rackets which up costs of repairs; by giving reasonable verdicts as jurors. And when I say reasonable verdicts I am thinking of two counties in Pennsylvania that are at opposite ends of the scale. One is giving an average of 238 percent more per award than the average for the state, the other is way under the average. If insurance is to mean anything it must give just coverage. If awards are too high everyone suffers. If awards are too low, again an injustice is done."

the engineers, "but all other associated groups are taking part in the planning. The Soil Conservation Service is presenting its part of the picture; the Census Bureau has prepared the projected population figures; the departments of forests and waters from the four states involved have presented their facts and figures, or are completing them."

"The Interstate Commission for the Potomac River Basin is providing information on siltation and such other information as it may have."

Figures are completed for siltation as it affects the dams proposed by the engineers, Johnson said. He said his commission is seeking funds from four states to make a more complete siltation test to "determine where the silt is coming from." He said present figures "show the Monocacy is not the great silt carrier that it is accused of being. The silt it passes through stays in suspension longer and so it looks muddier, but we have found it is actually not carrying more silt than other waters flowing into the Potomac."

Chairman Robert Lott presided at the meeting. It was decided to obtain further information on the proposals as they affect Adams County.

Driving Club Reorganized: The

Gettysburg Driving Club has reorganized and elected officers for the coming year. President,

Dr. H. M. Hartman; vice president, John Fagan; secretary,

B. E. Kindig; assistant secretary, Edgar C. Tawney; treasurer, J. H. Colliflower.

The club proposes having regular matinees during the summer months, the first of which will take place the latter part of

May. It was impossible to do this last year due largely to the fact of the encampments which occupied everyone's time.

The members of the club point out also that it will be less difficult to arrange for these matinees now as the majority of the members have good horses and the club itself can hold events without much assistance or many entries from outside.

Lawyers Pay High Tribute:

In impressive session the members of the Adams County Bar

Association met on Monday afternoon to adopt a memorial to the life of the man whom they recognized as their leader, the chief in the legal profession in this county—W. Clarence Sheely.

Every member present delivered a brief but, in many cases, eloquent eulogy. Ex-Judge William

McClean, president of the association, presided and in the order of their admission to the local bar each one of the lawyers arose and paid their tribute.

Roll And Water Diet For

Tramps: Chief of Police Sheeler

has started an active warfare against the army of tramps which has been going through the town for several weeks and his operations in the past twenty-four hours have resulted in at least eight less of the mendicants bothering the people of the town.

Mr. Sheeler states that there are so many of the tramps going through the town that to arrest them all would more than exceed the capacity of the lockup. To avoid this unpleasant state of affairs he warns every objectionable visitor that he sees to get out of the borough at once. Those who obey are allowed to go free but the others are taken to the village bastille for several days of reflection and scant diet.

On Tuesday evening Officer

Sheeler saw two of the wanderers and advised them to get outside of the borough limits as rapidly as possible. They disappeared but, soon after, he saw them again and saying "Come along" the officer started for the lockup. They will be kept there for several days on a scant diet of rolls and plenty of water.

First Tourists Come Saturday:

The summer tourist season of 1961 opens officially on Saturday when the first large party will arrive for a visit of several days. The first arrivals will be a party of from seventy-five to a Ohio. They will stop at the Eagle.

Almost every Saturday for several months there will be tourist parties here and the season in this line promises to be exceptionally good. On Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8, the trip of the state legislators to this place is scheduled and other things are also in prospect.

Further improvements to the surroundings of St. Joseph's convent and academy at McSherry-

Today's Talk

THE SCRAP HEAP

"The scrap heap," once wrote

Elbert Hubbard, "is the hell-box of civilization!"

Who wants to travel by stage coach again? What farmer wants to give his time to splitting logs, or stone, to enclose his farm?

Into the scrap heap have they all gone!

I write these Talks on a typewriter and give something to the printer that he can read. We have to go to the museums to see the old quill pens of our forebears.

No sooner is an important invention brought out than it is improved upon—and then it is consigned to its place in the scrap heap.

Why the scrap heap? That there may be more smoothness and efficiency—and WORK done in the world!

We are traveling faster and truer in our science and industry than we are in our ideas of conduct and living. But this is largely because of the power of habit.

Little by little, however, we are learning that the scrap heap is a very good place for many of our worn out ideas upon human affairs and the handling of human beings.

A popular writer once put a great deal of truth into his phrase: "Give us this WEEK-day to make it holy!"

We need to scrap-heap much of our Sunday religion and get it to functioning right during the busy days of the week—when people are working and when they need it most.

There are more people wanting work, and a chance, than want charity. There are more people who want kindly sympathy and appreciation than want mere money.

But two things, at least, are scrap-heaped too lavishly—love and tolerance!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Pickup

Mind"

PLAY QUARTER FINALS OF NIT AT NY GARDEN

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The long and the short of the National Invitation Tournament met in one of the quarterfinals in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Dayton, five times a finalist and never a winner, has the tallest team in the tourney. The Flyers play Temple's Tiny Tins in the opener of the doubleheader.

In the second game, Niagara—the only other seeded team left besides Dayton — goes against Providence. The winners go into the semifinals on Thursday. The final is scheduled for Saturday.

"I know all about these little guys," said Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn, referring to Temple. "They are not easy to beat. In fact, the little teams have been dominating this tournament."

BIG MEN HURT
Temple's Coach Harry Litwack shudders when he thinks of Dayton's figures—a 19-7 regular season record and over 90 points five times.

"The big men have been killing us all season," moaned Litwack. "In fact, we've made them look like All-Americans."

The Niagara-Providence game will be a replay of an earlier season game between the two teams. Providence won that one 76-74 in double overtime when Jim Hadnot made good on a 1-and-1 foul with four seconds to go.

STAR INJURED
Niagara Coach Taps Gallagher, who is leading his club into the NIT for the eighth time—also without a championship—is worried that Joe Maddrey, his 6-4 corner man, will be out. Maddrey has a 16.2 scoring average. He has a twisted knee and an injured shoulder.

Niagara plays strictly a man-to-man defense, but Friar Coach Joe Mullane calls his defense a "Chinese man-to-man."

"It's basically a zone," sniffed Gallagher. "I talk only one language, English."

Other Lock Haven winners in their respective divisions were Lee Deitrick, 133-pound class; Gary Cook, 165-pound; and Jerry Swope, 180-pound.

LOCK HAVEN IS NAIA CHAMPION IN WRESTLING

TIGERS HAVE MOST SPIRITED CAMP IN YEARS

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers may be shaking their "fat cats" reputation, but their new business-like approach to baseball may not be enough to lift them out of sixth place.

For Manager Bob Scheffing, the 1961 season will be one of trial, and he hopes, not too many errors. Veterans call this training camp the best organized and most spirited in years. But the former Chicago Cubs manager needs more than an improved attitude to pump new life into the Tigers.

For years the Tigers have been rapped as the most contented group of second division players in baseball.

20 NEW MEN

Scheffing is forced to attempt the latest rejuvenation with untried rookies. There are 20 players on the 36-man roster who were not listed on the spring roster of 1960.

A winter trade brought center fielder Bill Bruton and Scheffing has moved Al Kaline back to his old right field spot and put slugger Rocky Colavito in left.

The manager came to camp with two major problems — his infield and the catching.

INFIELD UNCERTAIN

Dick Brown is the number one catcher. At 26 he is trying for a regular job with his third team. The manager says his infield "could be our most pleasant surprise or our biggest disappointment."

The key figures are third baseman Steve Boros and second baseman Jake Wood, who have only seven years of minor league apprenticeship between them.

The best competition in camp is at first base where Larry Osborne, the American Association's triple-crown winner of 1960, is trying to unseat Norm Cash, who was the best hitter among Tiger regulars last year.

STRONG PITCHING

Pitching has been Detroit's strong suit in recent seasons and stronger arms for second line pitching. Jim Bunning, Frank Larry and Don Mossi form the nucleus for the staff.

Early outlook on the Tigers: Pitching good, hitting fair, fielding adequate, bench stronger—with the chances for moving up from sixth place depending almost entirely on the performances the team gets from its young infield.

PLEASED WITH PHILLIES

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies says he's pleased by the way things have been going in spring training.

"I guess the most satisfying thing has been how the players have taken to the instruction we have been giving," said Mauch Monday as he discussed the club during an open date in the exhibition schedule.

Heavy Contender To Fight Tonight

LONDON (AP) — The man described by champion Floyd Patterson as a "very worthy challenger" tonight steps into a London ring to prove to the world he's deserving of a shot at the heavy weight boxing crown.

His name: Henry Cooper, a 26-year-old blond Briton with a left hook and undefeated in his last seven fights.

Cooper is putting his British and Empire titles on the line against Welshman Joe Erskine, a clever boxer but one lacking a punch capable of stopping most of the world's heavyweights.

"I know my hopes of getting a crack at Patterson's title rests on tonight's fight," Cooper said. "I've no intention of letting the chance slip by."

Cooper is rated the fifth challenger for the crown. Erskine in most lists is just outside the top 10.

BATTERS ARE IMPRESSIVE IN SPRING CAMPS

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
The way the hitters are smashing the ball off, and over, the fences in Florida and Arizona, the name of the game could be ricochet instead of baseball.

The carnage continued unabated Monday with the St. Louis Cardinals inflicting the worst damage by pounding Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits, including seven doubles and a triple, in a 14-5 exhibition victory over the Reds.

The Cleveland Indians, who rocked San Francisco hurlers for 18 hits Sunday, continued their assault on the Giants' shell-shocked staff with a 3-homer, 14-hit attack for a 12-5 triumph.

SAME STORY ELSEWHERE

Elsewhere, it was the same story. Twenty-seven hits were sprayed around the field as the New York Yankees beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in an 11-8 slugfest, and another 27 caromed off booming bats as the Boston Red Sox outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 8-7.

Baltimore settled for nine hits in a come-from-behind 7-6 triumph over the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, while in a night game the Kansas City A's edged the Washington Senators 4-3 on Jerry Lumpe's two-run double in the ninth inning.

Bill White led the Cardinals with four hits, two of them doubles, and Stan Musial contributed a single, double and triple against Cincinnati pitching hopefuls Ray Riplemyer, Dave Stenhouse and Zach Monroe. Vada Pinson had a single and two triples for the Reds.

SCORELESS STINT

Cleveland right-hander Jim Perry pitched scoreless, four-hit ball in a six-inning stint against the Giants. Woody Held led the homering triumvirate with a three-run shot while Tito Francona and Hal Jones added two-run clouts.

The Yankees put together a four run outburst in the sixth and came up with six in the seventh to hold off the Dodgers, who got a homer and triple from Willie Davis and four RBI performance by Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle had a homer and double for New York.

Vic Wertz, with 3-for-4, powered the Red Sox. Wertz' run-producing single in the ninth chased the winning run across after his three-run homer had kept Boston in contention. Gene Leek had a homer, double and single for the Angels.

Chuck Essagian's two-run homer in the fifth and a three-run homer by Ron Samford in the sixth brought the Orioles, trailing 6-0, within range of the Pirates. Baltimore then won it with two in the ninth on Essagian's double, singles by Jerry Adair and Whitey Herzog, and an error.

Lumpe's game-winning double for Kansas City came with two out and the bases loaded off Washington reliever Marty Kutyna. The Athletics entered the bottom of the ninth trailing 3-2 when Ray Semproch filled the bases on three walks. Bud Daley, Johnny Kucks and Don Larsen worked for the A's, who won their seventh game in nine starts.

Hopes For Federal

Boxing Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said today a go-slow warning from the Kennedy administration has not dimmed his hopes for a bill to place big time boxing under federal control.

Kefauver, the bill's author, said he still believes an administration endorsement of the measure's objectives, if not its details, is possible.

He went ahead with plans to introduce the controversial measure in the Senate this week.

It would place professional boxing having interstate aspects under control of a federal boxing commissioner, who would operate from the Justice Department.

This official would have broad powers for three years to license fighters, managers, promoters and matchmakers, and use his licensing authority to drive racketeers and hoodlums from the sport.

ABL WILL HAVE MANY CHANGES WHEN IT OPENS

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Professional basketball will have a new look in the American Basketball League, which starts operations in the fall.

That's the word of acting Commissioner Abe Saperstein, who has learned over the years as owner of the independent Harlem Globetrotters how to give the fans what they want to see.

"There are going to be rule changes, a premium placed on the smaller player and a better balance between offense and defense," Saperstein said in an interview.

FIELD GOAL—3 POINTS

"We plan to paint an area 25 feet in front of the baskets and a field goal from behind it will be worth three points. This should be as interesting as a home run in baseball. It will get the good, little man in position to shoot and the fans will see the baigling through the air and swishing through the hoop."

Saperstein also is for widening the keyhole along the base line to 18 feet, the Olympic distance, to keep the big man away from the basket.

CONTACT LEGALIZED

"We also intend to legalize contact," Saperstein continued. "I don't mean we'll be playing a football type of game. But there will be addition of some body contact—be what it may—to aid the defense and keep the score down to a respectable level. A player will be able to protect himself like a football lineman is able to do."

"If a little man can't touch a big man, how is he going to guard him? We want some 5-9 and 5-10 players with a lot of flash. These kind of players thrill college fans with their speed, skill and finesse but when they graduate the pros won't even look at them."

SAYS OLIVER EXPECTED TO LIVE 6 MONTHS

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Cancer has weakened golfer Porky Oliver to such an extent that his doctor tells him he may have less than a year to live.

But the "curse," as he calls it, will not sap his spirit, nor his faith, nor his good will toward others.

Despite two operations and word from his physician that he may have only 4 to 6 months to live, Porky Oliver has not crawled into any dark corner to sit back and await death. He abounds in faith and is making his life useful by aiding cancer research.

SAYS MIRACLES HAPPEN

"Hell," he said, "miracles happen. I've known some cases where people were told they had only a few months or years to live and they lived 20 or 30 years."

"You just hope for the best, particularly if you have a family. You start praying to the man. That's the only thing to do. I've been feeling pretty good lately."

Oliver, 45 and the father of three boys and a girl ranging in age from 9 to 18, had been a public relations official with the Denver-Chicago Trucking Co. of Denver for the past two years. He recently returned to Wilmington to live.

Philly Coaches

Sick Over Scandal

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coaches of the big five basketball teams in Philadelphia described themselves as "sick" over the latest college scandal in the sport.

"I can't go along with this thing of going lightly with the guilty players," said Penn's Jack McCloskey Monday. "I think there should be a jail punishment. I don't think they should be allowed to play again in organized basketball."

At Severance, who retired at the end of the year as coach of Villanova, said:

"It's a consummate shame that a thing like this should rise again. If it persists it will kill the sport."

Sweeney Regains

AHL Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Springfield's Bill Sweeney has regained the American Hockey League scoring lead from Phil Maloney of Buffalo as the race enters its final week.

Sweeney collected nine points during the past week to boost his season's output to 102, league statistics disclosed today. Maloney was limited to three points and dropped to second place with 97.

Sweeney has tallied 38 goals and assisted 64 times. He has three games remaining while Maloney has four left.

Springfield players rounded out the top five. Bruce Cline is third with 87 points, followed by Brian Kilrea with 84 and Billy McCreary with 83.

SOUTH HILLS PCIAA CHAMP; COWBOYS WIN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pittsburgh's South Hills Catholic High School was making room in its trophy case today for its first state basketball championship.

West Reading and Williamsburg were reserving space for smaller trophies with an eye on a larger space for a state championship cup when they square off Saturday night for the PIAA Class C state title.

South Hills won the PCIAA Class A title Monday night, 41-40, over Scranton Prep in a cliff-hanger that was decided in the closing seconds when Denny Coll tossed in a field goal from the three-throat circle. It was Prep's first defeat of the season, against 20 wins.

WINS EASTERN CROWN

West Reading, defending Class C titlist, wrapped up the PIAA eastern crown with an easy 72-48 victory over Muncy, while Williamsburg stopped Commodore Perry, defending western C champ, 63-40, in the western final.

Williamsburg will attempt to dethrone West Reading, state champ in 1959 and 1960, at Albright College. Williamsburg was the Cowboys' predecessor as state champion in 1956, but the two haven't met in the state final.

Ron Krick, 6-foot-9 senior who has shattered all Pennsylvania schoolboy scoring records in his four years at West Reading, led the Cowboys over Muncy with 34 points.

The latter's Chuck Scott, 6-foot-7, never did measure up to his slightly taller adversary, scoring 14 points—five of them in the final two minutes and 18 seconds after Krick had left the game.

LITTLE PLAYERS STAR

Two little players led Williamsburg to its triumph over Commodore Perry, last year's runner-up to West Reading.

Don Appleman, a 5-foot-7 sharpshooter, dropped in 29 points, while Charlie Funk, 5-foot-9 scored 11.

The PCIAA Class B championship and the PIAA regional Class B titles will be the prizes in tonight's playoff activity.

South Scranton Catholic will attempt revenge for its city when it hosts St. Canice of Pittsburgh in the PCIAA game.

Railroad Authorities Do Not Feel Buses Will Ever Replace Commuter Trains

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Are buses likely to replace commuter trains in Pennsylvania? Right down the line?

Most authorities say use of buses on so large a scale would be economically unsound; that weather factors would make it impractical and that bus service never could gather the speed of rail service.

The Reading Railroad, with its own subsidiary, has an extensive bus service, much of it the charter kind, operating in Canada and Mexico as well as throughout the United States.

"Generally speaking," said a Reading spokesman, "we are using more buses, but not to supplant trains. They connect with trains; they are auxiliary to trains; the idea being to get greater flexibility."

LIMITED CONNECTIONS

The Pennsylvania Railroad's bus connections are more limited. The PRR has used only buses contracted for with other companies to handle certain business in Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania. Most of these undertakings have been abandoned. One of the few left is a service between York and Lancaster. The Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Line, which would like to call it quits altogether, runs buses to shore points, using facilities of Public Service Coordinated Transport. The PRR pays the bill.

A Pennsy official said, "I don't know of a single instance where running buses has been profitable. We always have to pay out more than the revenue we take in."

FIND NO ENTHUSIASM

Philadelphia's neighboring counties, undecided whether to come into the city-backed nonprofit Passenger Service Improvement Corporation, have been looking into the feasibility of expanded bus service, perhaps as a substitute for some rail service. No enthusiasm for the buses has been reported.

The southwestern part of Pennsylvania has its commuter troubles, too.

The main problem in and around Pittsburgh stems from a lack of integrated service. In the hope of solving this, the Allegheny County Port Authority was authorized in October, 1959, to begin a study looking toward formation of a single mass transit system. A report on this survey is expected by the end of the year.

MOST USE CARS

Commuters are now served mainly by the Pittsburgh Railways Co., the PRR and 32 district bus firms. The chief mode of travel, however, continues to be by private car, and that in a city with ever fewer parking facilities.

A little over a year ago the Pittsburgh Railways Co., which mostly uses trolleys, raised its fares to 27 cents cash, 26½ cents by token. There were public protests. Mayor Joseph Barr, just as displeased, said the increase would give Pittsburgh the highest transit fare of any major city in the country.

Since then the company has steadily lost business. Statistics show that from January to October, there were four million fewer riders than in the like months of 1959.

PITT CUTS SERVICE

Pittsburgh Railways has cut service and is still doing so, particularly on night-time runs, causing still more public criticism.

Trolley tracks are another irritant in Pittsburgh, one of the few cities still using trolley cars. The tracks are blamed for jamming traffic. Big question: Who should pay for ripping them out if buses replace the trolleys.

The Pennsylvania Railroad would be greatly relieved if it could dispense with its 30 commuter trains into Pittsburgh. There are 89 stations in the five-county area.

On Feb. 21 of this year the Public Utility Commission rejected a PRR proposal to abandon the service, directing the railroad to maintain the status quo for the time being. However, the PUC agreed with the railroad that some kind of public subsidy is needed.

PRR CITES LOSS

The PRR says it loses a half million dollars a year by running these trains, and attributes most of the decline in commuter business in the Pittsburgh area to in-

To Distribute $25 Million In Fuel Tax

HARRISBURG (AP)—A total of 27 million from the state liquid fuels tax fund will be ready for distribution to 2,560 municipalities April 1, the state reported today.

The money represents 90 per cent of the $30 million which the state distributes to cities, towns, ships and boroughs each year for road and bridge construction and maintenance.

The remaining 10 per cent is distributed in October.

"This year especially there is need for expanding employment and it is expected that these funds designated for construction work be utilized to the fullest extent," Gov. Lawrence said in a statement.

The law requires that the municipalities use at least 25 per cent of the allocations for construction and reconstruction rather than maintenance.

The allocation to each community is based on a formula which considers population and the number of miles of locally controlled highways and bridges.

The factor this year is $291.60 per mile and $1.06 per capita.

REP. JOHNSON NEW MINORITY HOUSE LEADER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Albert W.

Johnson was back in his familiar role as House Republican floor leader today.

His colleagues restored him to that position Monday night over Rep. Lee A. Donaldson, 36, Pittsburgh attorney who sought to succeed the late Willard F. Agnew Jr., 36, Aspinwall.

Agnew had unseated the 54-year-old Smethport attorney as GOP leader last Dec. 7.

Johnson had been the floor leader from 1953 until then, except for a two-year period—1955-57—when he was assistant floor leader.

The vote to restore him to the floor leadership was 51-39, almost the exact reverse of the 53-38 vote that had propelled Agnew into the job for the brief period terminate by his tragic death a week ago today.

Donaldson and Johnson were the only candidates. Each openly announced his candidacy just Monday.

day.

Johnson endorsed the program introduced in the House under Agnew's leadership and told news- men he would expand it.

ATTRIBUTED TO REACTION

Johnson's defeat by Agnew 3½ months ago had been attributed to a reaction against his mild-mannered approach to the leadership job and against Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom.

Agnew, a vigorous, aggressive antagonist for the Democratic majority, was the very antithesis of Johnson and considered somewhat more liberal in his views.

The explanation for Johnson's return to the job was less clear.

He attributed it to a feeling on the part of the Republicans "that in the middle of the legislative stream, it would be better to have an experienced man take over."

Riding with Russell

by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Successfully facing some of these dazzling headlights is no light task.

So you think your car still has that "new car feel?"

If so, you are an exception to the rule. Most motorists go right along thinking they still are enjoying top performance when tests would show that the car is falling short of its best.

That "new car feel" is quite elusive. Loss of it is so gradual as to be virtually unnoticed. All an owner need do by way of checking, however, is to take a ride in a new car or let his mechanic do some careful checking with test equipment. Lay the facts on the line and the car won't seem quite so acceptable.

One owner who resented having a performance test on the theory that there was no use upsetting his pleasant illusions did not realize that gas mileage had dropped from a 16 mph average to 12, that the cylinders were loaded with carbon and that the ignition timing had gone late. He was not stopping with the original lease because the brake shoes needed taking up, and the car was wandering and bobbing too much because one of the rear shock absorbers was not working properly.

Keeping that "new car feel" is a matter of keeping up with your servicing of the car. It's old hat but it's still the rule.

IT'S SEVERE SERVICE

One thing car makers of America are pretty well agreed on and that is the fact that engines are generally operated in what can be called the "severe service" range. Hence they need oil which is marked "For Service MS." Severe service might be viewed as something that comes along with high speed, cross-country travel, but actually it is that highly complicated business of daily stop-and-go driving, plus sudden bursts of speed uphill and on superhighways.

TOPS, PRO AND CON

Having been a booster for sliding sunshine roofs I was naturally taken back when the owner of a foreign car with one said that he didn't like it and almost never used it. His argument was that it was uncomfortable to use on a sunny day because the car then became too hot. In a convertible with the top down, he added, there is so much air circulation the car does not become uncomfortable.

My experience has been that there are other times when this feature in car tops is most welcome. There, for instance, the mild or even warm evenings when you can look up at the stars while riding and not be too windblown as in the case of a convertible with the top down. I have even driven in cold weather in the middle of the day with the top open.

MECHANIC JOE SPEAKING:

"It is now possible to buy a power brake repair kit instead of having to replace the entire unit when the car has been in service for several years and power assistance is beginning to wane. Not many motorists are qualified to tackle such brake work themselves but it is encouraging to know that mechanics now can use such kits for effective restoration of the power system, and at a saving to their customers."

IN THE MOTOR MAIL

Q. Do rear wheels ever have need for special alignment as do front wheels? J. B.

A. Yes, where they are individually sprung as in the case of swing axles.

Q. Should a four-cylinder engine be set to idle faster or slower than a V8? Wm. L. P.

A. Faster. Often this is as much as 100 rpm.

Q. What can I do to rid the engine oil of acid content. I understand this is an important factor in engine life. H. H. C.

A. Engineers would not go along with you on this. The acid content is low, due largely to crankcase ventilation and the loss of diluents as vapor when the engine heats up.

Q. Is there any way to check a steering skid which I understand is what happens when the front wheels will not follow a slippery road even though they have been cut in the direction the car should turn. I have been told that the way to check this is to release the brakes, but I can't see where the car could get into this spot without braking. F. W.

A. You are right. It is a matter of the combination of too high speed plus failure of the front tires to get sufficient traction. Only a stunt driver could handle this one.

Q. What is wrong when the transmission won't upshift smoothly unless I lift my foot from the accelerator pedal momentarily? K. L. Jr.

A. This indicates trouble with the governor control.

Q. I recently acquired a 12-year-old car and want to be sure that it is properly lubricated. I can find only one oil cup for the generator. Shouldn't there be another oil cup for the front bearing? W. T.

A. You will find this additional oil cup by removing the cover which extends over the front of the generator.

Q. Which should be considered first in a motor tune-up — ignition, carburetor or lubrication? N. M.

A. Check compression first because you can't tune up an engine with sticking valves or badly worn rings.

Q. There is a terrific thud in my car after I bring it to a stop. Is this serious? B. L. G.

A. The chances are that the engine is idling too fast. This disturbs the normal downshifting of the transmission.

Q. I notice that lately my car sometimes drags a bit when starting out. S. O. J.

A. On your car the parking brake may fail to release when the transmission is shifted to Drive.

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—Officials pressed an investigation today into the hospital deaths of five infants but doubted they would find out who caused the mixup that poisoned the babies.

A fifth baby died Sunday at the Grey Nuns' Hospital from the same toxin that killed four others during the weekend—boracic acid apparently brought to the hospital formula room in a jug marked "distilled water." Five more week-old infants are in fair condition.

The odorless, colorless acid is stored in brown jugs in the same hospital room where distilled water is kept in clear jugs. Somehow the acid got into a clear jug and this was used in preparing a feeding formula that was given to 10 of the hospital's 45 babies.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

When we drive onto a modern expressway or tollway, we leave most of our ordinary driving problems behind. There are no intersections, stoplights, pedestrians or turning cars to slow down our swift, comfortable drive.

And yet, the very factors that make expressway driving easy for us create new and very different problems of safety. Most of us have learned to drive on city streets and rural roads. We've built up a series of driving habits and reflexes that are fine in the kind of traffic we're used to, but which don't work at all on expressways.

The higher speeds of expressways condense time and distances in a way that requires us to develop a whole new set of driving habits and reactions. In normal traffic, we can come to a safe stop in a hundred feet or so if a car stalls ahead of us. At 70-mph expressway speeds, we need a good quarter-mile before we can make a safe, gentle stop.

ROUTINE MANEUVERS

Routine maneuvers such as passing require much greater distances on expressways. We can swing out in normal traffic, pass another car, and get back into our lane in the space of a half block. On expressways, we can't pass safely in less than a half mile.

Most expressway accidents occur when drivers try to use 40-mph driving habits at 70-mph speeds. It just doesn't work. High-speed driving requires us to plan far ahead and allow plenty of time and room for any change of position in the traffic flow.

Expressway architects had this driving difference in mind when they designed superhighways. Curves are wide and sweeping to provide the extra room for turns at fast speeds. Access and exit approaches are long and gradually turning to give a driver plenty of time to prepare for his next move.

SIGN SYSTEM

One design factor resulting from the fast pace of expressways is the sign system which lets a driver know what to expect ahead and gives him extra time to plan his actions. We've all seen these large green signs, easy to read by day and brightly reflective at night, which let us know well in advance that an exit road is ahead or that we can expect a service area in the next mile or so.

With the information these signs provide, drivers can decide whether to turn off the expressway or stop for gas or a cup of coffee and still have plenty of time to slow down and change lanes safely.

With the aid of these warning signs and our own common sense, most of us have begun to develop the new driving habits and sense

MISS PROWSE PEEVED WHEN PLEAS FAIL

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Where for art thou, Juliet?

"I'm on suspension," said Miss Prowse, who doesn't like it a bit. But if she had it to do over again, she'd do it all over again.

Certain teen-agers might suspect the actress-dancer has lost her marbles in rejecting a movie with Elvis Presley. She has nothing against Elvis. Matter of fact, she sometimes dates him, as well as another singer named F. Sinatra.

"And appearing in 'G.I. Blues' with Elvis did more for my career than anything, even 'Can-Can,'" said the gal who burst to fame with the latter film. "All of my fan mail is the result of 'G.I. Blues'; it gave me a big and important audience."

OWN MAKEUP MAN

Then why did she turn down "Blue Hawaii" with E.P.? Principle is principle, she said.

"It all started with two requests," she explained. "First, I wanted my own makeup man on the picture. I have a face that is difficult to make up; I wanted someone who knew me.

"Second, I wanted to take my secretary along. If they would pay her fare, I would pay her salary. I wanted a companion. I didn't know anyone else in the company except Elvis, and he's always surrounded by a dozen buddies."

The answer of producer Hal Wallis was no on both counts. Juliet asked if she could make a screen test with his makeup man. After much protest, this was granted, Juliet thought the test was okay.

TENDERED REGRETS

"But then I took another look at the script," she said. "The part had no character. I was only one of three girls in Elvis's life, and one 16-year-old had a more interesting part than mine."

So she tendered her regrets. This started a chain reaction of stacks blowing from Paramount to 20th Century-Fox, where Juliet is under contract.

"Naturally Fox was mad because they wouldn't be making their profit on my loanout," she said.

It's not so much that she doesn't like working at her relatively modest salary while the studio collects nicely on loanouts. She earns $10,000 per TV show but doesn't see it, she says. Being under contract to 20th-Century-Fox she gets nothing additional for outside appearances. What hurts most is lack of studio backing up.

NO COMMENT

"You'd think they'd realize if a new player is in enough poor pictures her career will go out the window," Juliet said. "They seem only concerned with getting their money out of me."

In the interests of fair play, producer Wallis was offered equal time.

While reluctant to enter controversy, he said this: "Miss Prowse received her copy of the 'Blue Hawaii' script on Feb. 23. Since

Horse Bites Car; This Is Not A Gag

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — "Horse bites automobile." That's no gag headline; it's an auto insurance claim, and it will be paid, too.

Manager Charles Coleman of Motors Insurance Corp., said Ernest Nadeau of Berlin, N.H., parked his car near a lumbering operation. Two horses used on the job were hitched nearby.

Nadeau returned to find the horses nibbling at salt deposits on the hood.

"There were teeth marks all over the hood," Coleman said. His firm expects to settle for $160.

SAYS LIFE AT 50 IS WORTH WAITING FOR

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What is it like to be 50 years old?

That question bothered me when I hit the half century mark a month ago. I feared the worst. I had a half-formed dread that, like the wonderful one-hoss shay, a fellow ran the risk of suddenly falling to pieces, worn out in every part.

At the best, I figured, life would be dramatically and dismayingly different.

But after a full four weeks of being 50, I learned a surprising thing—it isn't half as worrisome as being a teen-ager. You may have fewer big dreams, but you have fewer big problems, too.

NO PEACE CORPS

At 50 you face up to the fact you are too old for President Kennedy.

It was he who phoned from a nearby booth and reported someone was trying to break into the elementary school. Then, he said, he hurried to the school with the tools and waited for police to arrive.

Police quoted him as saying he told his wife that if she didn't cut out the nagging he'd get himself arrested. But she didn't believe him, he said.

Mrs. Torres confirmed her husband's story.

Other than that, she had no immediate comment.

Gets 3 Months For Killing Father

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A petite 19-year-old blonde has been sentenced to three months in prison for involuntary manslaughter in the death of her father.

A Lancaster County Court jury of eight men and four women deliberated four hours Monday before finding Beverly Ann White guilty.

John B. White, 62, was fatally injured last Nov. 5 while trying to stop the girl from driving to meet a boy friend.

He lifted the hood of the car to try to pull out the ignition wiring, but Miss White drove off first, police said. He clung to the car for three blocks, then fell to the street, officers said.

Miss White's lawyer, Hensel Brown, asked the court "not to send this little girl to jail."

Judge William G. Johnston Jr. replied, "I get the strong impression here that the defendant was so interested in having her own way that she ignored her responsibilities."

GAVIN ARRIVAL IN PARIS BOILS UP CONFUSION

PARIS (AP)—It wasn't exactly chaos, but it certainly was an advanced state of confusion when the Gavins, family dog and all, arrived at St. Lazare station Sunday for a welcoming party.

A new American ambassador doesn't arrive here every week, so the French had everything laid on for a gala reception. The trouble was, as so often happens in this country, everything went wrong.

That it all turned out happily enough is a tribute to the urbanity of Ambassador James M. Gavin, the illustrious native of Mount Carmel, Pa., and to the agility of the French to recoup from what often seems a hopeless tangle.

GREETING IS GOOFED

Gavin, his wife, their four daughters and pet collie pulled into St. Lazare on a boat train from Le Havre where they landed earlier in the day on the liner United States.

Because somebody goofed the official French greeting party and accompanying newsmen were in the wrong place on the platform. That meant the deputation of 200 or so had to lope after the train, to the astonishment of Gavin, who was gazing out an open window. When the train did stop the official greeters were swallowed up in a tide of gendarmes and onlookers.

An aide to a majordomo of protocol tried to cope with the dog, but the dog was somewhat less of a diplomat than his master.

SPEAKS FRENCH, ENGLISH

In time Gavin, who used to be a general, made connections with the greeters and with a stream of high ranking military and naval officers. But the end of the fiasco was not yet. Further hitches came at the spot where microphones and movie cameras had been set up.

Gavin handled the situation smoothly, however. He ditched his prepared speech, put together parts of it with a recapitulation of remarks made at Le Havre, first speaking in French, then in English.

Confusion remained, all the same. This time the newsmen were befuddled. Trying to follow Gavin's prepared text, they demanded of one another, "What's he saying?"

"He says he's happy to be here," came one enlightening response.

SAYS ROCKING CHAIR IS GOOD FOR ANYBODY

WASHINGTON (AP) — That old rocking chair in President Kennedy's office has been one of his most treasured possessions for more than five years.

Dr. Janet Travell, the White House physician, is glad he likes it so much. She is convinced that rocking in a good high-backed chair is a fine way to relax.

"Such a chair," said the doctor, "provides gentle, constant exercise and helps prevent muscular fatigue."

A reporter went to Dr. Travell after noticing Kennedy using the rocker during a recent conference with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The reporter asked if the rocker had been prescribed by Dr. Travell because of the trouble the President has had with his back—an ailment which she first treated in 1955.

AGGRAVATED IN WAR

Kennedy first hurt his back as a youth. The injury was severely aggravated when the PT boat he commanded as a Navy lieutenant during World War II was sliced in half by a Japanese destroyer.

Dr. Travell replied she had not prescribed the rocker, but that Kennedy has it because he saw one just like it in her New York office when he first came to her for help in 1955.

"He found it exceedingly comfortable and at his request I ordered one just like it for his Senate office," the doctor related.

Dr. Travell was emphatic in saying the President "doesn't have any back trouble at this time." She said such a chair is a very good thing for anyone, back trouble or not.

NEW PINCHOT STATE PARK READY MAY 30

Workmen are busy putting the finishing touches to York County's newest recreation area—the 3,000-acre Pinchot State Park—with only about nine weeks remaining before the official May 30 opening.

Delayed on several occasions by inclement weather, Park Superintendent Karl Thomson assured reporters this week that the three-year project was in its final stages.

Although fishing is out for this year, there will be swimming, boating and picnicking for the thousands who are expected to flock to the park.

For the first time in any Pennsylvania park picnic areas have been set up on a waterfront, said Thomson, as a convenience for beachers and their families. The 1,400-foot beach areas, one on each side of the artificial lake, will be permitted to go out 150 feet into the lake, to a maximum five-foot depth and a buoy line stretching the entire length of the lake will mark a no-swimming zone. The water is only about three feet in depth for 100 feet, said Thomson, and five feet for the remaining 50 feet.

STAFF OF 20 GUARDS

"We expect to have 15 to 20 life guards," explained the superintendent, "some of whom will occupy look-out towers in the water."

Thomson said the state has made no final decision on setting up fireplaces.

"We have found that most of the picnickers supply their own fireplaces," said Thomson, adding that at Laurel Hill Park, where he formerly served, only a dozen of the 300 fireplaces by the state were put to use.

The superintendent emphasized that no alcoholic beverages will be permitted at the park.

Dressing stockades for each of the beaches will be available as well as lavatory facilities. The park boasts 18 picnic areas, with sufficient land to add others at a later date.

Thomson said the state has no intentions of acquiring additional land. "We have plenty for expansion," he said. The state had previously announced that it does plan to continue working on the park for several years, adding improvement from time to time.

50 ROWBOATS AVAILABLE

Fifty rowboats will be available for public rental, 25 on each side of the lake. In addition, the state has provided a launching area for those who may bring their own sailboats or rowboats.

Thomson said the park expects to have 20,000 visitors on a good day and noted that the park has already attracted a number of persons from various parts of the country, including the Illinois State Parks superintendent.

Thomson is presently building a home on the park land for his wife and three children, although he is subject to transfer by the state at any time.

"We don't usually stay in any one place too long," said the native of Sweden.
